Lake Pepin Open! Simultaneously with the arrival of the first vessels this side of the Straits of Mackinso, the steamers on the Mississippi worked their way through the ice in Lake Pepin, and now navigation is clear, through to St. Paul. The travel on the river is already very large, and increas-

The News and the Thompson Swindle. The News of yesterday, returns once more to the charge, in defence of the Forty Theusand Dollar fee to Dick Thompson, catenally for services rendered to the Menomonee Indiane, but really for work done for Buchanan & Co., in the last Presidential Campaign. The News wit: that Congress passed the appropriation and therefore the President had to pay it. To this, the ready and conclusive reply is, that the Pience Administration were under precisely the same obligation to pay the $40,000, that the BUCHANAS Administration were; but so well satisfied were they of the fraudulent character of the claim, that payment was withheld for upwards of two years, and as long indeed as they icmained in power. If President Prence could do this, why not President BUCHANAN? Or what additional argument has been trumped up in support of the claim, which induced President Buchasan and Secretary Conn to allow, what President Prence and Secretary Guthrie had rejected? Nothing-unless it were the fact of Thomeson's efficient services in behalf of Sam and Sham, during the Presidential contest in Indiana. But, urges the News, Congress did not sustain the Pixacs Administration in its attempt to withhold the $40,000 from Thourson, because "the House acquiesced in the justice of the ap-"propriation, by remaining quiet two years, "while the Senate, only last August, passed a "resolution declaring that the appropriation of the cought to be paid." We read the action of Congress differently. We think the House, by its silence, "acquiseced" in the refusal of President Pierce to pay the claim, and not in the justice of that claim; and we submit that this opinion is confirmed by the fact that the House did not assent to the resolution from the Senate. nor did the President act upon it. Although this resolution passed "last August," the appropriation still remained unpaid when President PIERCE retired from office. It was left to his cessor to make haste to pay a bogus claim, for services never roudered, and under circumstances which raise, if they do not justify the suspicion that it was the result of a corrupt politi cal bargain.

REMARKABLE "HARMONY."-The News grows jubilant over the prospects of returning, if not fully restored union and harmony among the democratic family in this State, and professes its readiness to bury all personal feuds and go in, heart and hand, with all its fellow democrats for the good of the cause. It closes a magnan imous proclamation of peace and declaration of a general amnesty as follows :

In the political, as in the natural world, "on" in the Democrate party in this game the dy-few years has been between living and the dy-ing. These who love to meditate amongst tombs, read cyliaphs, and smell the mould, will continue to associate with those who mere, but are not, and indulged in the vain hope that these dry bones will yet live.

That is to say-the News is perfectly ready to live in peace and harmony with the the democrats of its own peculiar stripe, who are just now basking in the sunshine of federal favor, but it cannot "continue to associate" with those of different complexion, and coolly crosses then out of its visiting list or sends them "down among the dead men." We think that the News will ere long discover that "those dry bones," will not only "yet live," but kick, and pretty vigorously MESSERS. EDITORS :--Since the completion of your pioneer Railroad to the Mississippi, the future of Milwaukee has become indissolubly connected with this region. In this new field of enterprise she will take an important part; a trade scarcely yet thought of will soon burst upon her, and her geographical position will be hatter understood.

Up to the present time, those familiar with the enterprise of Milwaukee are at a loss to determine why so little interest has been shown in securing a trade so directly tributary to ber, while Dubuque, Galena, Chicago and St. Louis, have overrun northern Iowa and Minnesota with their numerous drummers, posted the hotels and fences with handbills, crowded the newspapers with advertisements, and boasted of their From Members, for dues, &c. superior (?) facilities and advantages. Not a Milwaukcean has been seen here, not an advertisement put forth, not a solitary effort made to following : secure a trade that will add more to the wealth | For Lectures.

It is the very best trade that goes into that market, and the most strenuous efforts have been made during the past winter to retain it. Neither the weather nor the roads have been a barrier, but with commendable energy they have worked for that which they well know the value of. Whoover has put up at night at any of the Public contative of Chicago - and while the advantages now grounds its defence upon a single point, to of that point have been spread over the land, scarcely a voice is heard to tell the honest truth about Milwaukee. Hitherto castern communication has been had through Chicago, and business has naturally sought that channel A new inside track, and what is more she can keep it. If she does not now control the north-west trade and forever rotain it, it will be through the grossest negligence. It can be had almost for the asking, and what is worth having is worth asking Prairie du Chien, the terminus of the Miwau kee & Missisippi Railroad, is admirably situated for doing the extensive business that such a Road will attract towards it. The town is rapidly advancing with brisk strides towards commercial importance, and will soon be a point that Wisconsin may truly be proud of; the facilities for doing business which it possesses in an extraordinary degree, will ever make it a desirable point to all who are secking a new home in the west. The buildings of the M. & M. R. R. will add ma terially to the appearance of the place.

Directly across the Mississippi from the Depot t Prairie du Chien lies the flourishing town of McGregor (with which it is connected by the McGregor (with which w is connected w here)

McGregor has the best landing place on the Upper Mississippi, and a large proportion of the freights for northern Iowa and southern Minnesotte is landed at this point. It has also the best much which has been so general. It was how the proportion has been so general. It was how the proportion has been so general. It was how the proportion has been so general. It has also the best graded road leading back into the country, being the old military road, connecting Fort Crawford with Fort Atkinson on Turkey river, the country along which reminds one of the military ridge road in Grant county.

McGregor has about 1000 inhabitants, and is going abead finely. All things considered, it is the best point on the west side of the river, between Dubuque and St. Paul; it is of easy access, both by common roads and Railroads, it has a ountry to back it up unequalled in extent, availability, and magnificence, and for one hundred polles back no portion of the West can show a prairie country so well watered and timbered .-Those who have bumbugged themselves into the belief that there is not room enough in Me-Gregor for a City, are mistaken. An investigation shows that there is abundant room for a narding extensive views of the Mississippi, Prairie du Chien and McGregor. Among the principal leading towns in the interior, is St. Charles, or Charles City as it is now known. This place is situated in the far famed valley of the Cedar, and for beauty of location, wealth and society, is decidedly the Madison of Northern Iowa; it is the same distance from the Misslesippi that Madison is from the Lake, and at the end of the first running Division of the McGregor, St. Paul and Missouri River Railroad, and at the junction of Cedar Valley Road. This and at the junction of Cedar Valley Road. This luce was originally settled by Joseph Kelly, lsq., formerly of Monroe, Michigan, and is setled largely by people from Rockford, Illinois, and contains about 1000 inhabitants. It has the best mill power in the Northern part of the State, 18} feet fall and capable of propelling twelve run of stone at all sessons. St. Charles is supported by the most enchanting section of counry in the West; the prairie rolls in graceful undulations down flush to the west bank of the river; on the opposite side lies a very heavy body of timber, principally maple, black walnut and white oak. In a break or opening of the timber, the city is built, partly on the prairie, and partly in the opening, and from thirt; to fifty feet above the river, the shores and bottom of which are olid rock. This point presents as many induce nents to the capitalist and man of business as did Madison, Janesville, or any of the prominent interior towns of Wisconslu five years ago. In this vicinity, and at Rockford and Clear Lake, is found the genuine Milwaukee brick clay-bricknakers have not yet made their appearance out here, but should some be induced to come, they can make a small fortune very rapidly, and so the machinery, drawing him between the wheels, can Mechanics of every description. Perhaps no one year, since the first of the existence of the Association, has witnessed so large and so valuable an accession to the Library as the one just closed. By an arrangment made and habilities afforded through the Library committee, the Board have been able, after selecting and determining a list of books, to make the purchase through an agent in New York city, at prices coosidorably bolow the usual publishers prices, without any charge to the Association for Commission, by which me us the faibrary has had the advantage of a selection carefully considered and determined by the Board here, and also, except in a few cases of rare books, the benefit of New York trade prices.

The number of new books thus added to the library is about four hundred. This does not instead books purchased in Milrankee and books doused by individuals or received from members of oxogeness, the departments at Washington, and kindred arsociations, by all of which our library is about four hundred. This does not instead books purchased in Milrankee and books doused by individuals or received from members of new books and pamphlets to be bound nearly four thousand volumes. The board believe that, in the quality of its books, if not interest the manufacturing the market of the purchased in Milrankee and books dousely four thousand volumes. believe that, in the quality of his books, if not in their number, the library of our association will compare most favorably with that of any similar institution. It has been the aim of your Board for the past four years, to secure at the same time a popular and a really valuable collection of books, and they believe that, while they have not neglected the lighter and more transient publications of the day, a large share of the best of which will be found on our shelves, there is already in this association a remarkably there is already in this association a remarkably good beginning of a capital public library, well worthy the attention and support of reading men. The charter of the association declares its purever, considered by the present board, that the general purpose of the association did not require, and that the members did not expect that they would embark in any scheme of lectures not likely to be remunerative in a peculiar point of view. The time may come when our record The time may come, when our association, endowed by some wise generosity, will be able to provide such courses of lectures, as will be profitable to the listeners without reference to the profit of its treasury. Until then, your directors must be confined to such lectures as will pay. With this view, no general course of lectures was undertaken the past searchest the past searchest being swiged that the interest course of lecures was undertaken the past soa-son, your Board being satisfied that the interest in popular lectures here was not sufficient to just-ify the undertaking, a conclusion which the ex-perience of the past winter, both in the associa-tion and that it has all the management of the conperione of the past winter, both in the hasolation and out of it, has fully sustained. Such incurres only were obtained as could be secured without entailing expense to the association, or were entirely certain to attract a paying house, and the report of the lecture committee shows that more money was realized out of the few lectures of this water, than out of the local paying and the previous ger and more expensive course of the previ

The number of new members who have joined the Association during the past year, is forty; a small number, when compared with the many young men in our city, not members, who would find their profit in joining. It has not been found practicable to make any special effort, during the year, for an increase of members. An automorphism is not been to make your progress for the removal of rangements are in progress for the removal of the Library and Reading Room of the Associa-tion, to the building north of, and asjoining the Newball House, where rooms have been obtained

In closing the annual report of list year, the hope was expressed "that our Association might "bo able, another year, to do better than simply "to sustain its present library and reading room; that it might have the means largely to increase that it might have the means largely to increase that usefulness and attractiveness of both."—

THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT .- The Concert of Madame La Gaangi, at the Hall of the Albany last evening, was a great success. It attracted, as we anticipated, a large and brilliant audience, and gave unmin-gled satisfaction. The programme was happily selected and every place well rendered. Madama La Garnor and every place wen remission. Managed in Galkand delighted, even more than she astoniched her auditors by the remarkable power, swedness and facility of execu-voice, and her marveilous accuracy and facility of execution. These qualities were especially conspionous in "Rhode's Variations" and the "La Graige Poike," and for response to the vothesissite encre which she is at dicted she saug, with exquisite tasts and skill, "the Last Rose of Summer." We only regret that so rare an intertainment is not to be repeated. Madaine La Granom her party leave here this morning, on their ratu

PARLOR GRATES AND FURNACES.—If any of our readers should want to buy a handsome parior grate, we can tell them where they will be able to find such an article. Mezers Richardson & Gray, on Wisconsin Street, under Young's Hall, have as beautiful an ansortment of parior grates, as can be found anywhere. We dropped into their existibilithment a day or two since, and they showed ut in addition to their parior grates, some other no less useful household utensels, among which was the no less useful household utensels, among which was the Metropolitan Cooking Range, a most durable and economical article, which is second to none other manufac-tured. Mesers. Richardson & Gray have also a variety of Furnaces, Refrigerators, Ventilators, &c. For parof Furnaces, Refrigerators, Ventilators, &c.
